

Mission: BLOOD-STROLOGY DHV

Mission Author: Style

Mission Goal: To test the Blood-Strology DHV that has been kept secret for almost a long time.

DEADLINE: Monday, November 30th

Description: The first time I heard of this routine, it was my first call with the Stylelife Academy. This is a routine for the people that have a hard time with astrology, rune reading, palm reading or any other cold read.

Rationale: This will add something new and unheard of to your arsenal of DHV's. Not only do you have friends in Japan, but you have something most girls never heard of. And it is interesting. Be interesting.

Instructions:

BLOOD-STROLOGY DHV

You: So I was with a friend from Japan the other day, and he was saying that people's personality—and the lovers they're compatible with—can be determined by their blood types. It's like their equivalent of astrology. Except he claimed it was more accurate, because astrology is about things millions of light years away in the sky, but our blood runs through our body, so it has a stronger effect. So far I've found out this stuff to be surprisingly accurate. Do you know your blood type by any chance?

If she doesn't know her blood type:

You: Yeah, it would be good to know. I'm curious how accurate this whole thing is. I'll tell you what: I'll try to guess your blood type and we'll find out later if I'm right.

Use the following descriptions to guess her blood type. If she actually checks with her parents or doctor for her blood type, you've definitely made an impression.

If she knows her blood type, then proceed with the corresponding analysis below. Feel free to embellish it with your cold-reading skills. You might want to copy these descriptions onto your phone or a piece of paper, so you can refer to them if necessary. Just explain that you wrote down the information your friend gave you so you could remember it.

Note that some women get squeamish at the mention of blood. If they don't want to talk about it, turn pale, or pass out, you might want to stop the routine and move onto something else. In addition, the blood type compatibilities below apply only to interactions, not transfusions, which require more than a routine to perform successfully.

Type A: The Farmer.

People with blood type A are known for being able to stay calm under pressure. They are hard workers who like to keep the peace and live comfortably, which can lead to strong relationships with the right person. However, they sometimes feel like they're outcasts, which tends to give them amazing artistic talents, but also makes them somewhat shy and sensitive. They secretly crave success and are known to be perfectionists, though they can occasionally be stubborn and overly cautious. Type A is most compatible with A and AB.

Type B: The Hunter.

Type Bs are the most dependable of the blood types. They can be counted on to finish any project they start. They're good at following directions but prefer to find their own way to complete a given task. They tend to have one-track minds, and usually focus on what they're working on at that moment to the exclusion of everything else. They can seem cold, because they tend to stick to logic rather than emotion when dealing with people. They are often perceived as individualists and can sometimes appear selfish. Type B is most compatible with B and AB.

Type AB: The Humanist.

Type ABs tend to be passionate lovers but are also known for their somewhat unpredictable, dualistic nature: hot and cold, timid and confident, the life of the party and the shyest person you know. They tend to be easily overwhelmed by responsibility. AB types are known for being trustworthy and honest, but also generally have a dislike of custom and conformity. Type AB is compatible with all other blood types.

Type O: The Warrior.

Type Os are known for being energetic, social, and ambitious. They follow their passions and tend to set trends, but when something doesn't interest them, they can get flaky. They're easy to fall in love with, but also dangerous for this reason. They love attention, and generally listen well to others. They tend to say what's on their mind (sometimes without thinking) and are generally confident, though they can also at times be over-confident and jealous. Type O is most compatible with O and AB
